Fields of interest

As a human geographer embedded in a research centre for ecology, I developed interdisciplinary research integrating human sciences and biological sciences and dealing with landscape dynamics and biodiversity conservation. This led me to researches on policies dealing with biodiversity conservation in man-managed landscapes (agro-environment schemes, implementation of Birds and Habitats directives) and with integrated rural development.

My teaching is focused on environmental, conservation and sustainability issues.

Research programs

- 2009-2012. Programme “Securing the Conservation of biodiversity across Administrative Levels and spatial, temporal, and Ecological Scales” SCALES. European Commission, FP7 (Collaborative Project ; Large-scale integrating project). Responsible for work package 1.1 “Understanding anthropogenic drivers, processes, and pressures across scales”
- 2009-2012. Programme ANR ALDETEC (Local Action and territorial development in Central Europe). Coordinator : M.- C. Maurel (School for Advanced Studies Social Sciences - EHESS) and P. Chevalier (University Montpellier III).
